Re: Change in testing for English proficiency for candidates for exchange programs

Starting in the fall semester of the 2017-2018 academic year, students who are applying to exchange programs and are required to show proof of proficiency on the CEFR scale will now be tested using the Aptis English test.

The British Council Aptis English test is delivered online and covers all language areas; grammar and vocabulary, listening, reading speaking and writing. The test is modular and any combination of sections can be taken. Results are returned quickly within 3 days and the candidate will receive a CEFR level for each language area and an overall combined level.

The test is internationally recognized and can be used as evidence of English proficiency level for exchange programs, school transfers and employment purposes.

COST: NIS 200 and the results are valid for two years.
