TESOL Spring semester courses:

Immigration and Minorities: Linguistic, Psychological and Educational Aspects

Dr. Michal Tannenbaum (3 credit hours)

Mondays 14:15-16:45

Dan David 104

This course discusses linguistic, social, institutional, and psychological aspects of immigrants and other minorities in Israel and in other countries. The course deals with theoretical models related to immigration and language maintenance, emotional aspects involved in language maintenance, language shift and language loss, and institutional and educational approaches towards various minority groups in different contexts.

Multilingualism in the Public Space: Linguistic Landscape and Language Policy: English in the Global World

Prof. Elana Shohamy (3 credit hours)

Wednesdays 14:30-17:00

Dan David 104

The course Multilingualism in the Public Space: Linguistic Landscape (1/2 semester) focuses on the displays and representations of linguistic (as well as visual, images and sounds) of multilingualism in public spaces (e.g., signs, brochures, graffiti, instructions, billboard, and the Internet). We will see how English and other languages are used for political, educational, economic, ideological purposes and for the creation of de facto policies. We will learn how to document, analyze and understand languages in public spaces (i.e., linguistic landscape items), and how to use this resource for language teaching in critical ways. Readings will include philosophers of space as Auge, Lefebvre, de Certeau, Barthes, Bourdieu, as well as the numerous research studies in this new emerging field that document patterns of multilingualism in various parts of the world. Students will participate in a number of field trips as assignments will include documentation of various places and phenomena in Israel in order to gain deep insight into Israeli society and using the data for effective language teaching.

In the course Language Policy: English in the Global World (1/2 semester) students will be exposed to the major issues surrounding the status and roles of English in the world today in terms of functionality, dominance, controversies, dilemmas, varieties and rights. We will examine different patterns of English language policies as exemplified, explicitly and implicitly, via different mechanisms, in a number of countries. We will study the specific case of the dominant role that English plays in Israel in education and the public space in relation to other local, national and trans-national languages. We will discuss the challenges of these policies to educational policies in relation to factors such as teaching methods contents and tests.

Language Testing and Assessment: From Theory to Practice

Dr. Lisa Amdur (3 credit hours)

Wednesdays 11:30-14:00

Dan David 104

Pre-requisite: Academic or practical background in teaching foreign languages

The course focuses on the theoretical and practical aspects of language testing and assessment. Various issues related to both large scale and classroom assessment will be discussed; particular attention will be given to the classroom use of multiple assessment tools. Students will both critique various instruments (designed by teachers and externally developed) and be involved in designing and implementing their own language assessment tools.

Teaching EFL to Learners with Learning Disabilities and ADHD

Dr. Rita-Zeltsman Kulick (3 credit hours)

Wednesdays 8:30-11:00

Dan David 104

Pre-requisite: Academic or practical background in teaching foreign languages

This course addresses theoretical and practical aspects of teaching English as a foreign language to students with learning disabilities and ADHD. The course introduces classic and latest theories of comprehension (listening & reading) and production (oral and written) challenges struggling learners (children, adolescents and adults) face in the EFL setting. In this context, linguistic/ cognitive deficits and their link to first/foreign language development is explored. Following this theoretical basis, teaching principles, initial assessment and remediation strategies will be presented.

Technology and Language Learning

Karen Eini (3 credit hours)

Mondays 10:15 -13:30 alternating weeks plus virtual lessons

Sharret 001

In this course we learn about digital technology in language learning. We will review various theoretical and practical topics dealing with computers and language education and critically assess the pedagogical value and usability of language learning software, online resources and applications available for ESL/EFL. Students will create and implement digital learning materials and are expected to actively participate both in class and online.

Students should consider prerequisites for each course they chose.

Courses syllabus are available online, also information about the program.

With every request please make sure to state the requested semester & year, attach transcripts (updated ones) and filled form (below).

Program site:

<https://international.tau.ac.il/engineering/?id=term-0>

With every request please make sure to state the requested semester & year, attach transcripts (updated ones) and filled form (below – Please contact the Exchange office in order to get a form to fill up).

Reminder about what is needed when submitting an application for external students:

1. The student can send up to 2 forms.
2. Requested courses are maximum of 6.
 - If a second request form is made- suggested courses should be added to requested courses section (assuming student is interested).
 - A suggested course is considered an approved course.
3. Third section of the form should be filled in by the student only after he/she is approved for the program, and he/she chose the courses out of the approved ones from section B of the form.
4. I do recommend that the student applies to courses within similar fields of study and semester (for example 2nd year student should apply to 1st year & 2nd year courses). I recommend this action since the dean will possibly approve an advanced course to a 3rd year / 4th year student and not prior, due to prerequisites. this is also good for the student that might not be sure what are the course prerequisites. they can be found within the second link (below).
Communication – student should communicate directly to the international office (NY), up to the point he/she arrive to Israel to study in the program.
in unique cases we can step in and supply further information, but this should be coordinated with us beforehand.
5. Names and numbers to the EE program courses should be supplied to the student prior to filling in the form.
a correct list for this upcoming Semester is just below. For next year, you can check with me before year starts, and I will update you with Fall/Spring courses, in case there is a change.

We calculate TAU credits as follows:

- 1 credit equals 13 academic hours. Each academic hour is composed of 45 minutes. Accordingly, a one credit course will meet for 585 minutes.
- A two-credit course equals 26 academic hours, i.e.1170 minutes.

Further, TAU Law's drop/add policy is quite strict and I would like to emphasize our policy:

Class attendance is mandatory.

A student that misses more than four classes will not be eligible to take the final exam.

- Semester-long courses: Add/drop during the first two weeks ONLY.
- Quarter-long & condensed courses: Add/drop must be done before the third lesson ONLY. (Class may meet twice/week, so the period is shorter).

ONLINE COURSES

BACHELOR'S

Online courses, taught online via platforms like Coursera, edX and Campus offer a unique way of studying, which allows the student to determine her or his own pace, and combines several mediums: pre-recorded short lectures, short readings from primary and secondary sources, and discussion questions. The course is offered in English, with Hebrew subtitles. Teaching Assistant is monitoring the course and available through chat and study groups. Exams are held on Campus at the end of the course.

The courses offered:

The History of Modern Israel (1880s-Present) 1882-0604-02

Israel – an independent state since 1948 but a historical entity since time immemorial. An incomplete and ongoing ever-changing society, rooted in the past, facing a challenging present, and progressing toward an unknown future. A state in constant quest for legitimacy, unique in its stormy development and striving for normalcy.

This course invites you to take a historical journey to modern Israel. It will review the curious, dynamic, and at times contradictory history of this country in two parts:

The first, "From an idea to a state" – beginning with the Zionist movement until the creation of the state.

The second – "Challenges of Israel as a sovereign state", from its independence, until the present. The course will survey both historical events and broad themes that characterize Israel.

Syllabus:

Part 1 – From an Idea to a State

1. The Emergence of Zionism and the First Waves of Immigration (1880's-1917)
2. The Jewish Community under the British Mandate (1921-1939)
3. World War 2, The Holocaust, and the End of the British Mandate (1939-1948)

Part 2 – Challenges of Israel as a Sovereign State

1. Israeli Society – The first Years (1948-1967)
2. Israel Between War and Peace (1967-1979)
3. A Society in Transition (1977-1995)
4. The Changing Identity of Israel
5. Israel in the 21st Century

The Emergence of the Modern Middle East 1882-0602-02

This course will discuss the emergence of the modern Middle East from the fall of the Ottoman Empire, at the end of the First World War to the present. It will discuss the Ottoman legacy in the region and the Western imperial impact on the creation of the Arab state system. The course will discuss the rise and retreat of Arab nationalism, the problems of internal cohesion of the Arab states, issues of religion and state, and the evolution of Islamist politics. It will also focus on the evolution of the Arab-Israeli conflict and its impact on the region and will conclude with an in depth analysis of the “Arab Spring” by placing these contemporary revolutionary events in their historical context.

Syllabus:

Part one:

1. Intro
2. Modernity, Tradition and the Age of Reform
3. The Rise of Nationalism; The Demise of Empire
4. The Creation of the Middle East State System

Part two:

1. Independence and revolutionary politics in the Arab world
2. The beginnings of the Arab-Israeli conflict
3. The escalation and de-escalation of the Arab-Israeli conflict from 1948 to 1973
4. The escalation and de-escalation of the Arab-Israeli conflict from 1973 to the present
5. The Middle East from 1967 to the present including the Arab Spring

The Fall and Rise of Jerusalem 1882-0601-02

The destruction of the First Temple in Jerusalem and the Babylonian Exile were a great catastrophe in the history of the Jewish Nation. What really happened during that dark, fateful age, and how did new opportunities arise from the ashes?

Syllabus:

1. Introduction to geopolitics and geography of the Ancient Near East
2. Judah Under Babylonian Rule
3. The Days of the Destruction of Jerusalem
4. Gedaliah son of Ahikam
5. Archaeology of the sixth century BCE
6. The restoration of Jerusalem in the early Persian Period.

The Holocaust – An Introduction 1882-0603-02

The Holocaust was an inconceivable historical event, which forever robbed Western culture of its innocence. As civilized human beings, we fail to understand how events of such horror could have taken place, and how an idea so inhumanly warped could have spread like wildfire through an entire continent, instigating the systematic annihilation of millions of Jews.

Tel Aviv University and Yad Vashem – the World Center for Holocaust Research, produced this free online course jointly. The course tracks the history of the Holocaust and has two parts in which the following themes will be covered:

Syllabus:

Part I:

1. From Hatred to Core Ideology.
2. The World and the Jews in World War II
3. The Isolation Abyss - the Perspective of the Individual

Part II:

1. The Final Solution
2. Jewish and Non-Jewish Responses to the Holocaust
3. The End of the War

This online course is offered in an innovative, multi-level format, comprising:

- Comprehensive lectures by leading researchers from Tel Aviv University and Yad Vashem.

- A wealth of voices and viewpoints presented by guest lecturers.
- Numerous documents, photos, testimonies and works of art from the time of the Holocaust.
- Novel learning experience: Crowdsourcing – involving the learners themselves in the act of collecting and shaping information, via unique, exciting online assignments.

Economic Growth & Distributive Justice 1882-1401-02

Background-

This is an online course, under the platform of Coursera, developed by Stanford University professors. As of now, over 110 leading universities worldwide offer courses in Coursera. Tens of thousands of students all around the globe will take the course at the same time.

Tel Aviv University students can receive 2 credits for this course. The multi-choice exam is held on campus in both English and Hebrew.

Course Description-

The course will seek to enrich students with basic knowledge and understanding of how the state functions in the socio-economic sphere, while presenting and analyzing those main policymaking tools that are available to it. This basic knowledge is important for every resident and especially for those with voting rights. No previous knowledge of math, economics or law is assumed.

The course will cover the tax system, and how the government balances between tax collection and government expenditures.

The course will explain basic terms and discussions about: social welfare (happiness), the function of social welfare, public goods, externalities, inequality, poverty, minimum sustainability, the tension between social division of goods and effectiveness (efficacy), minimum wages versus wage subsidies (negative income tax), GDP (gross domestic product), free trade, optimal tax models, capital gains tax, family taxation, gift taxing (philanthropy), the consequences of globalization (with an emphasis on international tax) and an attempt to predict the necessary adaptations to the future workplace (market).

Wishing you a wonderful experience in Israel and TAU!!!
